Stroma is offering one hour of FREE CPD on acoustic compliance followed by one hour of FREE consultation.

Legislation such as Building Bulletin 93 (BB93) and HTM 08-01 (Health Technical Memorandum), and the various BREEAM assessments, make acoustic compliance a prerequisite for many new non-domestic developments, as do Part E and the "Code" in residential work.

With over 20 years of experience in the field collectively, Stroma's UKAS accredited acoustic team is knowledgeable of acoustic requirements and what it takes to meet them; we can therefore significantly reduce the risk of non-compliance.

Working independently from suppliers and manufacturers, we have provided testing and consultancy on more than 1000 projects throughout the UK and Ireland.

STROMATM
TECHNOLOGY

Our service offering:

ACOUSTIC DESIGN CONSULTATIONS

If engaged at an early enough stage, we can provide design reviews or workshops, liaising closely with the architect or design team to ensure that compliance criteria are established and taken into consideration from the outset.

Extensive knowledge of building types and the construction process means we are ideally placed to assess product suitability and identify improvement strategies where necessary.

PRELIMINARY TESTING

We offer preliminary onsite testing to ensure that a development is on target to meet the required specification.

FINAL TESTING

We undertake final testing to satisfy Building Bulletin 93 (BB93), HTM 08-01 and the various BREEAM assessments. Our engineers are dispersed nationwide, enabling us to keep lead times to a minimum and offer highly competitive fees. All reports are guaranteed within 48 hours of completing works onsite, reducing the risk of handover delays. We also operate a secure online archiving area where clients can log in and download reports for all their projects, both current and completed.

COMPLIMENTARY SERVICES

Stroma is also a UKAS accredited air tightness testing body; we offer a full testing and consultancy service ranging from design reviews and preliminary audits to final acceptance testing and, in the event of test failure, leakage diagnosis.

Meanwhile, our contracting division specialises in all forms of passive fire protection, fire stopping, thermal insulation and air and acoustic sealing.
